SST Vote Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of an American supersonic transport, unable to rally from reports a new start would cost up to $1 billion, will fall decisively to sustain the SST revival in the Senate, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Absent senators could narrow the victory margin for SST critics but probably will not change the result, the survey indicates.

Checks of 90 Senate offices showed 54 senators now oppose further subsidies to develop two SST prototypes.

Two others said they were strongly considering such a vote and one senator, also a previous SST backer, said he now is undecided.

Two SST critics, included in the 54, said they will be absent when the vote is taken late Wednesday afternoon or early evening. Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., has been ill and absent from the Senate for more than a year and was not included in the survey.

Only 45 senators remain firmly in the pro-SST column.

SST contracts were canceled

two months ago after the Senate, following the lead of the House, voted 51 to 46 to kill the project.

The SST's narrow revival victory in the House last week was widely credited to Republican success in persuading SST opponents in GOP ranks to withhold their votes.

Since then, the Boeing Co. and other major contractors have said any new start would be expensive.

White House efforts have not yet been able to soften the negative impact of the statement by William Allen, chairman of the Boeing Co., that startup costs for a renewed SST would run from $500 million to $1 billion.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was an SST leader in previous Senate rounds but said Monday he will be against the project "from here out."

Ellender said he believes the House had voted "more or less in the dark" to revive SST and would have taken the opposite action had it heard Allen's cost estimates.

Signalmen Gain Wage Hike

Law Signed To End Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed an emergency law Tuesday night ordering an end to a two-day nationwide railroad strike that stranded trainloads of commuters and cargo and was beginning to cripple much of American industry.

Nixon acted within hours after Congress sent him the hastily enacted measure giving 13,000 striking railroad signalmen a 13.5 per cent wage hike and ordering a halt to the walkout at least until Oct. 1.

C. J. Chamberlain, president of the striking AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said earlier his union would obey any back-to-work law. Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson said all the strikers and 800,000 other rail workers respecting their picket lines could be back on the job by Wednesday morning.

The retroactive wage hike covers the 16 months the signalmen have been without a new wage agreement during protracted negotiations under the Railway Labor Act.

The period until Oct. 1 will be used for the attempts to negotiate the rest of a 42-month contract on the union's demands for a total of $1.8 per cent in pay hikes above the current $3.78 average hourly wage. Hodgson said they should settle for the 42-per-cent pattern accepted earlier by most other rail unions.

The two bodies of Congress earlier resolved differences in their original back-to-work proposals to speed up action amid rising cries of alarm from industry spokesmen over spreading factory shutdowns as supplies of coal, steel, food, autos and other vital shipments were cut off from coast to coast.

The Senate agreed to the House wage hike figure of 13.5 per cent instead of its 17 per cent, and the House took the Senate's Oct. 1 date in place of its July 30 proposal to save further delay over a legislative compromise.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan earlier in the day had emerged from a White House talk with Nixon and accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of dragging its feet on the strike-stopping legislation. Congress had moved much more quickly in the last nationwide rail strike Dec. 10, whipping legislation through both chambers and onto Nixon's desk in just one day.

The latest national rail strike crisis appeared likely to finally stir action in Congress on Nixon's proposal for permanent legislation to give him more powers to deal with emergency strikes in all transportation industries.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, pledged to begin hearing on various proposals for permanent strike legislation next month.

The White House said Nixon would have preferred his own proposal to halt the signalmen's strike with a simple postponement order until July 1 with no pay raise. But the President said he would sign the bill because his primary interest was to get the nation's trains running again.

Federal officials ordered priorities on critical food, fuel and medical shipments on whatever means of transportation are available.

Many industrial plants cut back on production while some factories and coal mines shut down completely for lack of rail transport.

Growers and processors of perishable foods sought frantically to divert their product to trucks but many were reporting only partial success.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers of the House Commerce Committee indicated his body would differ with the Senate over the amount of the retroactive wage hike for the 13,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen.

Some 500,000 other rail workers have refused to cross the picket lines.

"If we give them more than we gave the other boys there will be more strikes," the West Virginia Democrat said, referring to a similar emergency law last Dec. 10 in which Congress voted a 13.5 per cent wage hike to end a one-day nationwide walkout of four unions.

The signalmen have demanded a three-year wage hike totaling 54 per cent of the current $3.78 average hourly wage retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970 when its last agreement expired.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of foot-dragging in dealing with the strike, but Staggers retorted "I don't see how we can go any faster" (Turn to Page Six) (See "Strike")

U.S. Troops—Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although many senators were listed as undecided on the eve of the vote, it appeared Tuesday that an all-out drive by President Nixon had checked a move to halve U.S. troop strength in Europe.

An Associated Press survey showed only 36 senators publicly in favor of the amendment by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont. Forty-two were opposed and 23 said they were undecided. But statements on both sides predicted defeat for the amendment in the Wednesday showdown.

The situation is complicated, however, by a series of alternative proposals due to be voted on first.

Mansfield said he sees fairly good prospects for his amendment, offered to pending legislation to extend the draft.

But he asserted that, whatever the outcome, the issue of the 300,000-man U.S. force in Europe "will not retreat into the shadows."

There was considerable feeling in the Capitol's cloakrooms and corridors that neither the Mansfield amendment nor the substitute proposals had sufficient strength to be adopted.

The reason the substitute proposals face a hard time is that they are likely to be opposed by hard-line backers of Mansfield and hard-line supporters of the White House, both of whom have ruled out compromise.

The first vote Wednesday is due on a proposal by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., that would add language to the Mansfield amendment calling for U.S.-Soviet talks on mutual force reductions and providing that, if the talks begin before Sept. 30, the Dec. 31 troops cuts would not take effect.

N. Viets Raid Southern Laos

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese are on a rampage in southern Laos, almost wiping out one town with a barrage, ambushing troops fleeing the town and sending rockets into a city on the Mekong River.

American dependents on Tuesday were taken out of Pakse, on the Mekong River near Bolovens Plateau, which was overrun Sunday by the North Vietnamese, giving them control of strategic roads.

On the eve of the 51st anniversary of the birth of Ho Chi Minh, North Vietnamese troops appeared on the move in much of the landlocked kingdom—possibly in a drive to expand the Ho Chi Minh supply trail to the west.

The North Vietnamese also could be trying to pressure the Laotian government in Vientiane into accepting the latest demand of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao. The Pathet Lao last week called for a halt of all U.S. bombing in Laos as a precondition for a cease-fire.

Whatever the objective, North Vietnamese forces followed up their capture of two government towns in the Bolovens Plateau Sunday with attacks at several points in other parts of Laos.

A heavy North Vietnamese rocket attack nearly wiped out Monday the town of Dong Heng on Highway 9, about 200 miles southeast of Vientiane, the capital and 100 miles north of Bolovens Plateau.

Reports reaching Vientiane said the North Vietnamese then ambushed a Laotian military convoy as it was retreating from Dong Heng and heading westward to Seno, 20 miles away.

All six trucks in the convoy and two 105mm howitzer artillery pieces were lost to the North Vietnamese, reliable Vientiane sources said.

Most of Dong Heng went up in flames from the rocket attack. Reports on casualties among the 2,000 inhabitants or government troops were lacking.

Well to the north, an enemy rocket attack blew up an ammunition dump and damaged an airstrip at Pakse, on the Mekong River 75 miles north-east of Vientiane. Three civilians and three government troops were delayed.

In a delayed report, officials in Vientiane disclosed that the village of Ban Muong, 210 miles northwest of Vientiane on the Thai border, was captured last Friday by North Vietnamese.

Roads Jammed During Second Day Of Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of commuters using private automobiles and facilities of the Chicago Transit Authority swelled Tuesday, jamming expressways, and overcrowding subways and buses as the national rail strike moved through its second day.

The Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) reported morning passenger volume on its various divisions swelled from 15 to 100 per cent over its normal rush hour load.

More trains and buses were placed in service to meet the increased demand, officials said, reporting that operations went smoothly despite the sharply higher volume of passengers.

On expressways leading into the downtown area, commuters' cars, bumper to bumper, created what one city official termed the worst traffic jams ever.

James J. McDonough, city commissioner of streets and sanitation, said Tuesday's influx of private cars was much heavier than on Monday.

"It will get much worse each day the strike continues," he added.

Traffic on expressways during Tuesday's morning rush hour was estimated by officials to be nearly 50 per cent above normal.

Officials said inbound motorists were on the expressways an hour or more earlier than usual and that by 3:30 a.m. (CDT) traffic had thinned out and was operating smoothly.

The Chicago Motor Club said many persons who chose not to drive Monday were lured back to the expressways by reports of smooth flowing traffic during Monday's evening rush hour.

Many drivers apparently were leaving their cars some distance from downtown Chicago Tuesday and turning to CTA to reach their offices. Downtown parking lots, filled to capacity early Monday morning, filled slower Tuesday as a result.

In several suburbs served by the CTA, long lines of commuters continued Tuesday. However Monday's three-block backup of riders at the Linden station in Wilmette was not repeated as many persons drove to stations farther up the line.

Industry in the Chicago area began to show signs of concern as the strike continued. A few said they might have to start laying off workers unless the strike ended soon.

The Ford Motor Company's huge assembly plant on the far South Side announced it had cut its production force to about one half of normal Tuesday because of a shortage of parts.

A company spokesman said that if the plant runs out of even one part production will be halted because of the assembly line system.

A U.S. Steel Company spokesman said there had been no change in employment or production levels at plants in the area, but he warned that the next 36 hours would be of crucial importance to future operations.

The spokesman said no rail shipments of coal or other raw materials were coming into the plants, and no finished products were being shipped out.

The Freeman Coal Co. shut down its Orient 4 mine near Marion, laying off 200 employees, because of a shortage of coal cars. The company said it also planned to shut down its Orient 3 mine near Waltonville.

Cairo Arrests

CAIRO (AP) — The leaders of a purported plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, including former Vice President Ali Sabry, were taken to jail at dawn Tuesday and soon may face trial, qualified informants reported.

Those jailed after being under house arrest included Lt. Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, the former war minister, and former Interior Minister Sherawi Gomaa, accused of bugging Sadat's own office and deploying his agents in Cairo to keep order after Sadat's ouster.

The long diplomatic efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Israel are likely to be slowed even more while Sadat deals with his foes.

"Obviously the authorities have other things on their minds now," said one informant. "It will be some time before they get around to the Israeli questions."

While admitting efforts toward a peaceful settlement will be delayed, political sources, Western diplomats and informed observers believe Sadat's dramatic ouster of his enemies and purge of the administration will not significantly affect his commitment to seek a political settlement with Israel.

Sadat, now much more his own man as president, is likely to feel more at ease in pursuing his policies since he no longer needs the consensus opinion of his hard-line opponents.

But even before the crisis erupted last Thursday, Sadat said there was only a one per cent chance of an agreement with Israel.

The Foreign Ministry still was preparing a position paper on the latest communication when trouble struck. It was understood to deal with Israel's questions over an interim agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

The Israeli questions were brought to Cairo 11 days ago by Secretary of State William P. Rogers' assistant, Joseph Sisco, after both held talks with Israeli leaders.

Disclose Dangers Of SST Flights

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California chemist says large-scale flights of supersonic transports could cut the shield protecting the earth from the sun's ultraviolet rays in one-half in two years.

Dr. Harold Johnston said his studies indicate the hazard is far greater than previously believed.

He noted a study sponsored last year by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology which assumed 500 SSTs would be flying an average of seven hours a day worldwide service by 1985, and said that at that rate, SST exhaust gases could reduce the ozone shield by one-half in two years.

That would expose the earth's surface to a type of ultraviolet radiation totally absent at present, he said.

He said he could not predict when serious hazards to human eyesight and life would appear.

Johnston said each SST would deposit about one ton of nitric oxide in the stratosphere in each hour of flight. This residue would form a thin, spreading ribbon. Residue from fleets of SSTs would mix slowly to continue ozone destruction long after SST flights ended, he added.

Other scientists hold that the SST effects would be trivial.

"The best estimate we have today regarding the climatic aspects of large SST operations indicate that the effects will be generally imperceptible and trivial when compared to the changes we experience from natural causes," says Dr. William W. Kellogg of the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo.

The two prototype SSTs "will not produce any equilibrium environmental changes," says a report of a committee of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

The Senate votes Wednesday on the SST project after the House approval of a restoration of funds for the plane.

Johnston said his findings are based on chemical calculations he began in March, using his experience in photochemical research to apply known facts about the speeds of chemical reactions to the problem.

Label Air Pollution Major Health Hazard

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential advisory committee Tuesday called air pollution "our most immediate health hazard" and urged higher spending to fight it.

The committee said also the government should raise its sights on water quality and aim for a cleanup program twice as costly as the present multibillion-dollar proposal.

Environmental programs deserve a bigger cut of the federal budget, said the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality in its second annual report to the President.

It said more funding against air pollution and trash accumulations is a must priority.

The attack on air pollution, it said, should include "a compulsory but phased program" of fitting even old cars with anti-pollution devices over the next few years.

Federal regulations require new cars to meet strict emission standards by 1975.

In addition, the committee urged increased research to develop new types of auto engines and the removal of lead from gasoline.

While praising administration efforts to increase funding of programs against water pollution, the committee said even that would not be enough in the long run.

The administration has proposed increasing the federal grant program for water treatment facilities to provide the matching half of a $13-billion national investment over three years. The aim is to achieve secondary treatment of waste water-treatment that removes most biological waste but leaves a wide variety of pollutants in the water.

The Citizens' Advisory Committee said tertiary treatment, a higher and more expensive level, "should be adopted as the ultimate goal of the water quality program."

"The technology for processing sewage effluent to drinking water quality is available."

The committee conceded such an undertaking "would almost double the cost of both capital constructions."

"But tertiary treatment is fast becoming essential, particularly in urban areas," it said.

Urban areas also pose problems in terms of land use, the report said, urging adoption of a nation land-use policy.

"We believe urban land is the critical problem," it added. "Important as the large open areas may be, it is in the urban areas that the great bulk of Americans live, and they live nowhere near so well as they can and should."

While urging increased citizen participation in environmental decision-making, the committee warned that conservation of the nation's energy resources has tended toward a shortsighted energy allocation.

It said the aim should be to make sure needed energy will be produced "with minimum damage to the environment, but without unnecessary delay."

The Reclamation Concept

Americans are notoriously a wasteful people. Over much of our history as a nation we have been running through unparalleled wealth in resources like a wastrel squandering an inherited fortune.

There also is in our national background, however, a contrary theme of Yankee frugality—the concept of “making do” with what one has; the way of life summed up in the admonition: “Waste not, want not.” This, too, has been an important element in our national tradition, though one generally forgotten over long periods of time.

In some respects, this century has seen a resurgence of the “waste not, want not” philosophy. Whereas the timber barons once leveled forests unchecked by law, and with no consideration for the future, both law and enlightened self-interest now prevent this. There have been successes in preserving park and recreation land—even wilderness areas—for public use. Though such ecological horrors as feebly regulated strip mining continue, there has been progress toward better utilization and, where possible, revitalization of natural resources.

We are also beginning to witness the first hesitant steps toward solid waste disposal systems that will stress reclamation of materials. The old way has been to get rid of such waste—burn it, bury it, dump it at sea; anything to get it out of sight and out of mind. This is changing. The changes are coming along rather slowly—too slowly to keep ahead of the problem, some observers say. But at least there is movement, and a growing public sense that this must be done.

There are two parallel thrusts—from the private sector and from government. Thus far, the greatest show of activity has come from business and industry. More than a year ago, for example, an aluminum can collection effort got under way. It is getting returns—for 10 cents a pound—at the rate of about two and one-half billion cans a year.

Now four major can companies are going that one better. They are undertaking an expanded collection program which will seek not only aluminum but also steel and combined steel and aluminum cans. Moreover, the money for the cans will go, not to the individuals and groups doing the work, but to selected local government agencies. This makes the effort more a community project than merely a money-making device.

This kind of experimentation is heartening, but there is an evident need for concerted effort by private groups and government. “Waste not, want not” should become a matter not of whim or self-interest, but of national policy.

A Matter Of Equality

The idea of a gun-toting female helping to guard the president or riding shotgun with the U.S. Border Patrol, or perhaps even taking part in a narcotics raid, may strike many as not quite in keeping with the American law enforcement tradition. To this the Civil Service Commission might reply that sexual discrimination excluding women from such jobs, or almost any other, is even less in keeping with American tradition and American law.

That is the essence of the Commission's ruling that neither “men only” nor “women only” requirements will henceforth be acceptable with regard to federal jobs. Only a few exceptions will be allowed: under the new regulations, agencies will be permitted to specify employment by sex in situations where job-holders must sleep together in common quarters, or for certain institutional jobs such as that of matron in a women's prison.

The gun-toting aspect of the matter was mentioned only because this dramatizes the Commission's central point. This is that from now on agencies will not receive permission to hire on a sexually discriminatory basis unless they can show that performance of a given job would otherwise be “seriously impaired.” The Commission bases this dictum on “our strong feeling that the exclusion of all men or all women from consideration for a position can be justified only under the most unusual circumstances.” Equal rights for women in the field of employment will not become a reality until we acknowledge this, and act accordingly.

Egyptians Express Approval

Sadat's Image Changes After Effortless Purge

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO (AP) — Few people thought Anwar Sadat had it in him to be a strong leader when he succeeded Gamal Abdel Nasser as Egypt's president seven months ago. His smooth and apparently effortless purge of leftist political foes has changed his image. “He really showed he had guts by taking them on,” said a cafe waiter. “Good for him.” “Good man, good man,” commented a newspaper vendor in Cairo's fashionable Soliman Pasha street. “May Allah preserve him.” “Now we can breathe again,”

Sadat's pledge to end wire tapping and other kinds of special police surveillance. The government reported that thousands of Egyptians messaged Sadat their complete backing. Workers and students marched through Cairo's streets Saturday in organized demonstrations of support.

Sadat confronted a group of six ministers and three political bosses Thursday and arrested them because, he said, they tried to overthrow him.

Part of the approval generally expressed for the president's action arose from the fact that the ousted men, and particularly Interior Minister Sharawi Gomas, were widely disliked. Sadat followed his initial move with a thorough cleanup of top administration posts, replacing holdovers from Nasser's days with his own men.

Scores, perhaps hundreds of government posts, seem due to change hands. For example, Sadat fired six senior officials of the government radio and television stations Sunday.

The president installed a new commander in chief of the armed forces, a new interior minister, a new chief of intelligence, a new district attorney and a new speaker of the national assembly.

A new 32-man cabinet, sworn in Friday, retained Premier Mahmoud Fawzi and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. They have been prominent in assisting Sadat's efforts to reach a political settlement with Israel.

Sadat also said that Egypt's only political party, the Arab Socialist Union, will be reorganized to make it more representative. He promised “100 per cent free elections supervised by myself.”

Sadat's new confidence was evident in his 35-minute broadcast Friday in which he told his story of the power struggle.

Egyptians are unaccustomed to admissions of vulnerability from their leaders, but Sadat told them openly that the conspirators came close to toppling him. Only a tipoff by an unidentified Egyptian averted disaster and gave him the information necessary to head off the plot, the president said.

Sadat admitted he was shocked at the unsuspected double-dealing of Gomas and his allies. The interior minister had begged Sadat's office in his own home, the president said.

That Space Station

Russians Blunder Into Space Lead

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Soviet experiments with a space station bring to mind how Moscow made a mammoth strategic error in deciding to go to the moon by way of earth orbit—and thereby lost the race.

But that error, in turn, led to the space station—which may put Moscow ahead in the practical utilization of space and could give the Russians a boost toward missile superiority.

If all this should prove true, it would be the second time in this generation that Russian misjudgment led to a major Soviet leap forward in missile-space technology.

The first instance, of course, was the development of the giant Soviet booster and an edge in the space race. This booster was developed because the Russians found it technically impossible (or impractical) at that time to achieve a small practical nuclear warhead.

The Russians were forced, therefore, to build a huge booster to lift their large warheads. American scientists, ahead in the expertise required to build small effective warheads, had no need then to develop a huge booster. So the Russians forged ahead, for awhile. Catching up proved a major task.

The space station resulted from another Soviet mistake. In calculating how to get to the moon, American scientists at first were inclined to follow the more conventional approach. That is, they planned to put the astronauts and their vehicle into an earth orbit, then blast off for the moon in another vehicle. A brilliant new approach, circling the moon and then descending to the lunar surface in a separate landing vehicle, led to U.S. victory.

The Russians, using less imagination, stuck to the orbit earth-orbiting approach. In doing this they forged ahead of the United States in their ability to produce an earth-orbiting space station.

That space station has many advantages which the Russians certainly will not be slow to capitalize on.

Ann Landers: Capital Flooded With Letters In Support Of Cancer Bill

Dear Readers: Thank you for your magnificent response to my suggestion that you wire or write your Senators in support of S-34, the Cancer Conquest Bill. An unprecedented blizzard of letters has hit Washington. The already overworked secretaries who must answer the mail have posted signs saying, “Impassioned Ann Landers!” They quietly concede, however, that the response is heartwarming. Judging from the telegrams and letters already received it is estimated that that single column will generate a million pieces of mail.

I am immensely grateful to those who wrote but I would be less than fair if I failed to let you know that not everyone shares my enthusiasm for the establishment of a National Cancer Authority. Some dedicated and competent physicians, as well as distinguished men in government—including Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot Richardson—fear that S-34 will dismantle the National Institute of Health. They argue that we should utilize the existing machinery for cancer research.

My position is, however, unchanged. The existing machinery has been around since 1907 and it is a jungle of red tape. The proposed National Cancer Authority would be an agency similar to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which put the first man on the moon. If we had stayed with “the existing machinery,” it is doubtful that we would have reached our national goal.

Your wires and letters in support of S-34 are letting Washington know we want a sharp realignment of priorities. We are no longer going to remain silent while medical research picks up the crumbs from the table after the military has finished its gourmet meals. The answers to the scourge of cancer can and will be found.

I say a massive, unified assault on this killer disease is long overdue. Wire or write President Nixon today.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a youngish grandmother, just as you are, Ann. In fact, we are the same age. I work in a large office of a well known firm and I get along beautifully with the younger gals although I do not approve of the life style of some. Suddenly, I find myself unable to adjust to a certain situation in this office and it is upsetting me terribly. Miss X is 27 years old and very pregnant. Her lover shipped town and left no forwarding address. The gal has announced she is keeping her baby and will work as long as she can because she needs the money. In the meantime she is big as a house and I would not be surprised if she gave birth at the water cooler.

I find her presence an embarrassment. I feel that in a subtle way she is telling all decent people to go to hell. What rankles me most is that the men in this office (both married and single) treat her with special respect and consideration. One unusually hardboiled type said, “I admire the girl's guts.” In short, this pregnant-out-of-wedlock dame wins up with more attention, consideration and admiration than most women get from their husbands. What do you think of it, Ann Landers?—Wash. D.C.

Dear Wash: I think it's beautiful—especially the guy. One day when I'm in your city I'd like to come by your office and meet them.

I do not agree that the girl is telling all decent people to “go to hell.” I believe she is dealing with an unusually difficult crisis in the way she feels is best—for her. You need to reset your thinking, Dear.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19

Born today, you are basically an intellectual and for that reason may very often completely overlook your own emotional responses, making your decisions on the basis of reason alone. You will have to take care that you don't neglect your feelings to the point where they go underground, burying themselves so far beneath the surface of your consciousness that their influence, not being obvious, becomes unrealistic and, therefore, perhaps dangerous. Acknowledge your emotions. Aggressive by nature, you nevertheless channel that aggressiveness along acceptable routes. You put your energies into rising to the top of your business or profession, into making top grades in school, into strengthening worthwhile friendships, and into "making it" in ways which are formally desirable by society. That you will achieve your goals can be taken as a certainty—though life may be less than exciting. You are one who needs to have a definite goal, who needs to know precisely where he is going and at least approximately how long it will take to get there. You are not fond of surprises; indeed, the unexpected is something you find difficult to accommodate, though you are often forced to do so, in your daily schedule. You prefer to be safe and knowledgeable.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, May 19

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Go after what you want with a real will. You can accomplish all that the day holds for you if you begin early.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Group an opportunity for advancement the first time it is held out to you. Otherwise, you may have lost the chance completely.

CANCER (June 22-July 20)—You can make considerable gains today without any material outlay—if you are wise enough to read the signs carefully.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 23)—Select your associates carefully today. The wise Leo will not allow anyone else to do his work for him. Use your own judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Take special care with grooming today. You would be most unwise to appear slipshod in any way before higher-ups.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Expose your ideas to the criticism of other people. Some of your best notions may come through another's views.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Where more than a single opportunity presents itself, seek the advice of someone who has met with success in the field.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—The Sagittarius who closes his mind to the ideas of others may be missing out on many good things. Exploit another's intelligence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Keep one foot on the ground at all times. Opportunities may appear so fine that you will have trouble not losing your head.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—A day for change. Take care that you don't hang back at just the moment when you should be surging ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—A day of high risk and rapid action. Keep your emotional balance or you stand the chance of falling altogether.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Make no attempt to decide matters yourself—especially not when there are legal technicalities to be considered. Seek help.

Local Business Boosts JACOBA Benefit Total

The Jacksonville Area Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence held its monthly board luncheon at Birdsell's Ranch House Monday, May 17. The agenda included a report on the May 6 Ranch House chicken dinner, sponsored by JACOBA for the benefit of its halfway house at 504 E. Court St.

The event was well patronized and a great success. Net proceeds for the JACOBA treasury were $340. The board extended hearty thanks to Jim Birdsell, who not only donated the space for the dinner and percentage on each ticket used but also the same percentage of the Ranch House's cash receipts on that day. Thanks went to Hardin Business College for printing tickets and the crew of JACOBA "volunteers" who helped serve.

Reports on the fourth annual meeting of the Illinois Alcoholism and Drug Dependence Association were heard. Three JACOBA representatives attended at the Royal Executive Inn, Urbana, March 13-14: Mrs. Nancy Stanberry, R.N., and Mrs. Lee Gillis, both on the alcoholism and drug abuse program staff of Jacksonville State Hospital, and J. Warren Turner, JACOBA executive director. Mrs. Stanberry and Mrs. Gillis were elected to the IADDA board of directors.

Claim Marijuana Dangerous But Should Be Legalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Commission on Marijuana and Dangerous Drugs was told today marijuana probably is dangerous but should be legalized.

The testimony followed the claims Monday of two doctors that the drug produced distortion of perception and reality in test subjects and the opinion of another doctor that alcohol produces similar results.

John Kaplan, a law professor at Stanford University, told the commission today in prepared testimony he believes marijuana to be dangerous but added research has yet to show yet to show how dangerous the drug may be.

"If the marijuana laws worked," he said, "I would be strongly in favor of them but they, like Prohibition, do not work. They divide the young from the old and are propelling us to a national crisis of confidence of major dimensions. Therefore they must go."

Monday, Dr. Harold Kolansky and William Moore outlined their heavily publicized study of 38 psychiatric patients which they said showed marijuana "produces a brain syndrome marked by distortion of perception and reality which leads ... to impaired judgment, lagging attention spans, slowing of a sense of time and trouble talking."

They concluded the mental problems observed in their patients resulted from marijuana smoking and recommended a "get tough" policy to control the drug.

However, Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institute of Mental Health and also a witness before the commission, said in an interview it probably would be possible to find 38 marijuana smokers who had graduated from college with honors. Brown told the commission he was not ready to recommend legalizing the drug but "I do know that the present quality structure itself is already out of keeping with what we know about the drug."

The Kolansky-Moore findings also were disputed by drug expert Dr. Norman Zisner of Harvard. He told a news conference the findings, first disclosed in April, would be hard not to apply to a group of college beer drinkers.

Dr. Joel Fort of San Francisco submitted a written critique saying the Kolansky-Moore paper is "full of inaccuracies and inflammatory statements" with a conclusion of "some unavailing social criticism that might have been written by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's speech writers."

The crux of the Kolansky-Moore study is whether their observation of 38 highly selected individuals with mental disorders can apply to all marijuana users.

The 13-member commission, appointed by President Nixon, is gathering opinion and research for recommendations it will make next March. Nixon, however has said he will not support a recommendation that marijuana be legalized.

Berea Aid Plans June Guest Day

ALEXANDER — The Berea Ladies Aid met recently at Hamilton's with Mrs. Ida Hall and Mrs. Helen Stewart as hostesses. The president, Mrs. Stewart, opened the meeting with prayer and verse.

Devotions were given by Oley Bielechmidt, who led a responsive reading from the hymnal and read a poem. A moment of silent prayer was offered for all members.

Mrs. Sally Luster gave the secretary's report and also read correspondence from the Graham family, Mrs. Lizzy Robinson, Clyde Lewis, Mrs. Cecil Zachary, and Frank Robertson. Mrs. Irene Robinson gave the treasurer's report.

The birthday song honored Mrs. Jean Pottelash, Mrs. Faye McQueen and Mrs. Irene Robinson.

Roll was responded to by naming a favorite flower. Sunbonnet contributions were given signifying each mother's age.

The ladies aid agreed to pay one-third for housecleaning the church. It was voted to change the meeting date to the first Thursday of each month.

The president named the program committee, Mrs. Esther Roth and Mrs. Thomas Stewart; and members of the nominating committee are Mrs. Faye McQueen and Mrs. Betty Ankrom.

Mrs. Esther Roth presented the program; she read two articles. Contests were won by Mrs. Thelma Stewart and Mrs. Ida Hall. The oldest mother present was Mrs. Evaloe Lewis and the youngest was Mrs. Lois Mae Walpole.

The June meeting will be the annual Guest Day held at the Blackhawk with Mrs. Elizabeth Flinn and Mrs. Sally Luster as hostesses.

Guests present were Mrs. Wilma Litter and Mrs. Lois Mae Walpole. Delicious refreshments were served.

Presbyterians Name Woman To Top Post

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — For the first time, United Presbyterians have elected a woman, Lois H. Stair of Waukegan, Ill., as moderator, the church's top presiding officer.

She is the second woman within a week to be elected to the highest office at a U.S. denomination.

Mrs. Stair, a warmly vivacious church worker and businesswoman, defeated three male candidates near midnight Monday at the opening session of the denomination's 153rd General Assembly.

"You have set a precedent," she told about 2,000 cheering delegates. "You have taken a risk. You have said you trust me, a lay person, a woman, to hold the church's highest office."

The 3.1 million-member church is the nation's seventh largest Protestant body.

Last Friday, the American Baptist Convention elected a woman as its president, Ruth Rohlf of Seattle, Wash.

The outgoing United Presbyterian moderator, the Rev. Dr. William R. Laws of Columbus, Ind., embraced Mrs. Stair and told the assembly: "You have elected the prettiest moderator we've ever had."

Mrs. Stair led from the start in a contest with two clergymen and a layman. She won on the third ballot, receiving 282 votes in a system that required

Air Pollution May Cause Man's Extinction

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The human race faces "eventual extinction of the species" if air pollution continues, a Chicago environmental health expert told a national conference of chest specialists Tuesday.

"The time is now to rationally assess everything thrown into the air and its effects on human beings or we face eventual extinction of the species," said Dr. Bertram W. Carnow, chief of the section of environmental health for the Lincoln School of Medicine at the University of Illinois' Chicago Medical Center campus.

"The dinosaur had over 200 million years on earth; I think human beings are worth at least that much," Carnow said in an address to the joint annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association and the American Thoracic Society.

Carnow, who didn't forecast how long man had to clean up the air, said, "If pollution levels could be reduced 50 percent in America's urban centers we could see a reduction in lung cancer deaths alone of 20 percent."

"A primary reason for increased lung cancer deaths in the United States today rests solely on the fact that so many people are living in our large cities," he said.

Carnow said studies had shown in Chicago that in comparing 10-day representative periods of high air pollution with low-level days, twice as many persons died from respiratory-linked causes in the high 10-day period as in the low 10-day period.

Many persons who died of heart disease would have lived longer if air pollution hadn't weakened them, Carnow said.

Senate Refuses To Appropriation Public Aid Funds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate Tuesday refused to pass a $61 million appropriation for public aid to make up a shortage for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The bill received 20 votes but needed 30 instead of the normal 30 because it is an emergency measure.

Sen. John W. Carroll, R-Park Ridge, the sponsor, said he anticipated passage next week. He withdrew the bill until then.

Thursday, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie will address both houses of the General Assembly on the welfare problems plaguing his administration.

Ogilvie had budgeted $60 million for the year ending June 30. As the welfare rolls and costs rose during the year, he estimated the state would need another $60 million.

The legislature also is being asked to vote a public welfare budget of $1.19 billion for fiscal year 1972.

Leaders of both parties supported the bill, but the Democratic president pro tempore, Sen. Cecil Partridge of Chicago, and the Republican minority leader, Sen. Robert Coulson of Waukegan, were in Washington D. C. Tuesday attending a White House conference on major domestic programs.

Implied Consent Bill Moves To House Floor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House Judiciary Committee voted Tuesday to recommend passage of the so-called Implied Consent Bill, under which drivers would have to take drunk tests at the request of policemen or lose their licenses for six months.

The controversial measure, strongly endorsed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, already has been passed by the Senate and has produced a sharp and at times heated divergence of views among legislators.

In a lengthy debate on the measure, Rep. Arthur L. Bertram, D-Chicago, charged that the bill "would give carte blanche to a kind of extortion against our driving citizen."

Rep. Kenneth Gibbs, R-Springfield, responded that "as long as we can save one arm, one leg, we ought to pass this bill and get it out of here."

The vote was tied 9-9 when Majority Leader Henry J. Hyde, R-Chicago, asked for the floor.

"I oppose this bill," Hyde said. "I bitterly oppose it. But I would hate to be the one vote keeping the governor's program from the house floor."

This made it a 10-9 party line vote, although several Democrats insisted they were ready to vote for the measure if it were amended.

Advocates of the measure said Illinois is the only state that lacks some implied consent law.

The phrase "implied consent" means that by accepting a driver's license a motorist implies his consent to a breath test if asked to take one.

Opponents of the measure argued that it set a dangerous precedent for forcing information out of arrested persons and that there is no evidence it has caused a downturn in deaths in other states.

LITTLE LEAGUE

The victors scored early and never fell behind as two games were recorded in Little League action Tuesday afternoon.

Mark Imboden held the Cubs to only one hit and whiffed four errors to lead the Dodgers to a 5-0 victory. Chris Tighe led the victors with a double.

The Indians bombed the Tigers for seven runs in the bottom of the first, and held back a late Tiger surge to notch an 8-5 win.

Eddie Lowe with a home run and Jerry Anderson with a double led the victors, while Brad Hiale with a triple and Art Doane and Craig Lashmet each with a double were the leading batters for the Tigers.

Houston Notches Slim 3-2 Victory Over San Diego

HOUSTON (AP) — Denis Monks, whose eighth-inning double launched a tying, two-run rally, drilled a run-scoring single in the sixth to give the Houston Astros a 3-2 victory over the stumbling San Diego Padres Tuesday night.

Cesar Cedeno's single, a wild pitch by Bob Miller and a walk to Jim Wynn set the stage for Monks' tie-breaking single, which sent the Padres down to their fifth consecutive defeat.

The Astros, blanked on one hit by Steve Arlin through seven innings, struck for two runs in the eighth, knocking out the San Diego roster and tying the game.

The Padres took a 1-0 lead in the seventh against Houston starter Ken Forsch on a walk and Mike Collier's run-scoring double. They added a run in the eighth on Ed Spiezio's first homer of the season.

MAC HONORS NORMAN FOSTER

Norman L. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Foster of 1211 S. East in Jacksonville, was among 11 MacMurray College students honored at the second Awards Banquet held recently on the college campus.

The awards recognized students who have demonstrated academic excellence and campus leadership.

Foster, a sophomore, received the highest honors in general scholarship for maintaining an A average for three semesters. He received the Chemistry Department award, which is presented by the Chemical Rubber Company for superior scholarship in Chemistry 181 and 123.

Foster also received the Gerald D. Stone award, which is given to the sophomore man who has achieved the highest cumulative grade point average at the end of three semesters, provided he has maintained a full load each semester for a total of at least first-eight hours. This award was established by the Tusculum Veterans Association in honor of Mr. Stone, a partner in S. D. Leidesdorf and Company.

Only White House bride nearly left at the altar was Susan Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson. Primate Seyre, the groom, forgot his credentials and gate guards at first would not believe it was his wedding.

MAIL TRUCK LICENSE PLATES

SPRINGFIELD — Initial mailing of 1971-72 truck license plates began May 14 and Secretary of State John W. Lewis announced that distribution of the plates is 14 days ahead of last year.

Secretary Lewis cautions, however, that according to state law, plates cannot be displayed on trucks until June 1.

Deadline for display of plates, which will have black letters on an orange background, is June 30.

A great number of the early mailings are for truck plates requesting reassignment on pre-registered applications, the first time this service has been provided for trucks.

Secretary Lewis said that field offices are available throughout the state.

The incident was reported at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. Minor damage resulted and the auto was driven from the scene.

Bill To Ban Airport In Lake Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A House bill to ban construction of an airport in Lake Michigan was killed Tuesday by the Illinois Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee 9 to 6.

Democrats voted against the bill, Republicans for it.

Democrats said they wanted to keep open the opportunity for Chicago to explore the feasibility of an airport in the lake as well as in a suggested Will County area.

Sen. Richard Newhouse, D-Chicago, and Rep. Bernard Epton R-Chicago, spoke in behalf of the House bill. They said it affected about 26 blocks of their district along the shore and near a possible site.

"If Lake Michigan dries, Chicago dies," Newhouse said. "When Lake Erie dried, Cleveland died."

"I've seen the lakefront shrink," Newhouse said of recreational opportunities available along the lake to Chicago residents, because of the death of millions of shorebirds on beaches and because of air sickness.

Newhouse and other witnesses said the building of an airport in the lake was distasteful to people in South Chicago areas because of possible water, a brand noise pollution.

Sen. Charles Chew, D-Chicago, said he was not concerned whether the airport was in the lake. He voted against the bill.

"We're taking away from Chicago the authority to ever conduct a survey," Chew said of the proposed ban. "Put an airport in the sky and you'll get objections."

Monster: No Synonym For GI

"While we hear and read much of isolated acts of cruelty, we do not hear enough of the tens of thousands of individual American soldiers . . . building schools, roads, hospitals, clinics . . . who have tried to help the people of South Vietnam."

—President Nixon, April 7

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Early in the Vietnam war, during an assault on a small forest near Cu Chi, I watched a young GI belly over a mine field to rescue a child who had been first used as a hostage and then abandoned by the Viet Cong.

I suppose he and so many others like him fixed permanently in my mind what an American soldier was. The endless continuation of the war, and the shattering, agonizing controversies of the war, have not altered that image for me.

I am sorry that today, so weary and bewildered by the Asian fighting, this nation seems to be making GIs, even the surviving ones, victims of this conflict.

The other week I sat with a congressman and listened to his ceaseless condemnation of "our murdering soldiers." More recently I was jostled by Vietnam veterans, each insisting that they committed more brutalities in the war than the others. This morning and every morning I read in the public prints of citizen outrage over GI child shootings, finger cuttings and village bombardments.

And a colleague asks me: "What kind of monsters do we have in service?"

Monsters? Is that it then? Have we come to that? Do we now, when talking of soldiers, say monsters? Is the verdict on Lt. William Calley to be building five foot bridges, one popularly pronounced on all the 2.5 million men who've been to Vietnam? Is my own young son, who has no doubt seen the photographs of My Lai and heard the gossip of the land, speaking for everyone when he says: "I don't like our Army men any more?"

If so, we are all of us guilty of ignorance. Forget for this moment of reflection the insanity of war. For it, as Will Durant says, "is one of the constants of history and has not diminished with civilization or democracy." In the past 3,000 years of recorded history, only 300 have had no war. Generals may be silly, but peace, says Durant, "is an unstable equilibrium, which can be preserved only by acknowledged supremacy or equal power."

In other words, we need our armies desperately.

Therefore, it should be of concern that the first thing a returning Vietnam veteran does in this country is to shed his uniform ("You feel, well, sort of cheap in it."). According to polls, the image of the American soldier has never been lower. According to the Labor Department this translates into about 200,000 ex-GIs presently looking for work. According to one wounded Nebraska veteran: "I think a lot of people blame guys like me because Vietnam never worked out right."

So we call them monsters. Or worse, Calleys.

Yet what are they, who are they, really? As I remember and know them they are: Pfc. Milton Olive, a black man from Chicago who jumped on a hand grenade to save mostly white buddies; Lt. Col. David Hackworth, a career soldier of no particular home town, who at last count had accumulated nine Silver Stars, seven Bronze Stars and eight Purple Hearts; Dwight Johnson, a Detroit Medal of Honor winner who returned to a nation so unappreciative that he wound up dead, shot while apparently robbing a store. These and some few millions of others who never did anything else in Vietnam except sacrifice themselves to sometimes impossible degrees.

And they did not, the good many of them, just spend time to win medals. In the spring of 1967, men of the Fourth Infantry Division alone distributed 26,000 pounds of food, 14,000 pounds of clothing and soap, 96,000 pounds of cement sand and gravel, while building five foot bridges, one market place, two schools, 30 spillways and 30 playgrounds for one group of refugees in the central highlands.

But that's nothing. Again in 1967, U.S. Military Assistance Forces, operating all over Vietnam, placed more than 28,000 families in dwellings, repaired in excess of 3,000 homes, constructed some 23 hospitals, laid out nearly 100 kilometers of irrigation, built more than 200 churches, 200 dispensaries, 1,000 schools and 200 freshwater wells.

And finally: "In 1968," says the Pentagon, "soldiers spent 1,364,000 man-hours helping the Vietnamese, while contributing at least $200,000 of their own money to do so."

There are no over-all statistics on GI assistance in Vietnam. There never will be. And few would care if there were. But it should be clear to most that even in Vietnam, especially in Vietnam, the word monster is not synonymous with soldier. In several dozen combat missions in the war, I have witnessed only one atrocity—that committed by a GI on a dead man. This is not to minimize what he did, or what Calley did, or what some others have done. This is only to say these few are ignorantly, savagely exceptional, and condemned by the many.

It's the many I write of here. And as the President says: "They deserve not our scorn, but our appreciation."

Records Fall In IVC Track Meet

CARROLLTON — Joe Clendenny of Calhoun High school was a triple winner, including a record time in the 100-yard dash, while Carrollton High school gathered most of the points to win the team championship as four meet records were tied or broken in the Illinois Valley track meet held by the Hawks Tuesday afternoon.

Carrollton took first in the team standings by racking a high 90 point total, followed by North Greene with 59, Winchester with 53, Greenfield 40 and Calhoun 24.

Clendenny flashed down the track in :10.1 to tie the existing IVC record in the 100-yard dash, added first in the 220-yard dash with a mark of :22.4, and led the high jump competition with a leap of 5'9".

Winchester's Mike Hubbs set a new record in the mile run as he finished the event in 4:44.5.

Gene Vinyard of North Greene posted a new IVC mark in the 800-yard run with a time of 2:01 and was the anchor man on the record setting mile relay team of George Rogers, Jeff Sykes, Cennick Andras and Vinyard, who completed the relay event in 3:36.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Bonds drove in three runs, two on his 10th homer, and San Francisco battled around in a five-run sixth as the rampaging Giants snapped the Chicago Cubs' six-game winning streak 7-3 Tuesday.

Bonds followed Alan Gallagher's single in the fifth with the homer that sent the Giants, leaders in the National League West, to their 26th victory in 30 games.

San Francisco chased Mike Pappas, 4-5, in the sixth as Tito Fuentes, Gallagher and pitcher Ron Bryant singled to load the bases. Bonds' sacrifice fly and Hal Lanier's single drove in the first two runs and a pair of walks and Ken Henderson's two-run single capped the outburst.

Bryant, 4-1, lost a shutout bid in the sixth when singles by Glenn Beckert and Ron Santo, Johnny Callison's two-bagger and Jose Ortiz' single scored three Chicago runs.

May And Rose Pace Reds Over Philadelphia 4-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lee May struck a home run and drove in three runs and Pete Rose added another shot, pacing the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Rose led off the Cincinnati first inning with his fourth homer of the year. May slugged his seventh circuit shot in the second, tying the score 2-2 after the Phillies scored twice in their second.

Gibson Changes Pitching Style

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
National League hitters used to begin bailing out of the batter's box when Bob Gibson took the mound. The ace fastball pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals seemed to put more velocity on the two-strike pitch. But now he seems to be changing his style.

When this great athlete last faced the New York Mets he relied on the off speed or change in pace pitch on three occasions in one inning, each time with three balls and two strikes on the hitter.

This is not the Gibson who has won 26 or more games in five of his last six seasons and might have had six 30-game years in a row but for a broken leg that sidelined him for eight weeks in 1967, the year he came back to beat the Boston Red Sox three times in the World Series.

Gibson is 36 now and has been pitching in pain. He injured a knee while sliding last season. In April the Mets knocked him out of the box inside four innings after the knee had been drained of fluid and the pitcher required cortisone shots. On May 7 the fine control that has been his throughout his career seemed lacking.

He blanked the Mets for six innings in this game but it was evident as early as the third inning that this wasn't the same Gibson who had won two Cy Young awards as the NL's best pitcher and had fanned 2,393 batters in 2,816 innings over 10 full seasons and parts of two others.

"Let's get Gibson early because you won't touch him when he gets heated up," the hitters used to say.

Yet here he was changing a pitching pattern that has made him the highest paid pitcher in baseball. Some say he gets $150,000 a year from General Bunch. He is worth it because in the last three years he has averaged 304 innings, 270 strikeouts and 26 complete games a season. Since 1964 he has pitched the Red Birds into three World Series.

He may not be able to do that this year because of how he pitched with two strikes on three hitters in one inning while trying to protect a one-run lead against Met ace Tom Seaver.

In this third inning at New York's Shea Stadium, Dave Marshall worked the count to 3 and 2 with Bud Harrelson on second base and one out. Marshall was so surprised to see a slow Gibson pitch with two strikes that he grounded to shortstop.

After a topped ball put runners on first and third, Ed Kranepool, with a 3-2 count, walked on a slow pitch. Now the bases were filled and some 44,000 people in the park expected Gibson to really rare back when the count reached 3 and 2 on Bob Aspromonte.

But again Gibson used the change up, and only a fine catch by Felipe Alou in deep center field got Gibson off the hook without a run.

The Mets may next face Bob Gibson around July 19 in St. Louis. Maybe then warmer weather will help Gibson's ailing knee to come around. If it does the Mets may never see those two-strike change up pitches again.

Canadiens Capture 15th Stanley Cup

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran Henri Richard, whose emotional outburst had roiled Montreal last weekend, fired a pair of goals Tuesday night and led the proud Canadiens to their 15th modern Stanley Cup championship with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

Richard, who had exploded in anger at Coach Al MacNeil after the Canadiens lost the fifth game of the National Hockey League series, turned it around for Montreal when the Black Hawks, divisional champions in each of the past two seasons, seemed on the verge of taking their first Stanley Cup in a decade.

Chicago had charged in front 3-0 in the decisive seventh game but the Canadiens kept coming and within four minutes late in the second period they tied the game.

Then rookie goalie Ken Dryden, the ex-Cornell All-American, turned in a spectacular effort, protecting the lead from the desperate Hawks' attack after Richard's second goal had put Montreal in front early in the third period.

Jacques Lemaire started Montreal's comeback with less than six minutes left in the second period when he whipped a 60-foot slap shot past Chicago goalie Tony Esposito. The game Hawks' goalie never moved on the shot and appeared screened on the play.

Lemaire's goal seemed to give the Canadiens a lift and just over four minutes later they tied the game on Richard's score.

The teams were each skating one man short when Lemaire fought off a check in the corner and centered the puck to Richard, who was gliding in front of the Chicago net. One flick of the veteran center's wrists and the puck was past Esposito, tying it at 2-2.

That sent it down to the final 30 minutes and the Canadiens wasted little time. Richard, back at center after Coach MacNeil had made another line shift, charged into the Hawks' zone and converted perfect passes from Rejean Houle and Guy Lapointe for the decisive goal.

Now it was up to Dryden as the Hawks poured rush after rush at the young goalie, who had played only six games before the playoffs but performed in every one of the Canadiens' 30 Cup contests.

The Hawks stormed Dryden but time and again the young goalie turned them back. Jim Pappin, who missed an open corner moments before the second period ended, incredibly missed another with 10 minutes left in the game.

The Hawks charged through the fog-shrouded Chicago Stadium ice almost continuously as they battled first the Canadiens and finally the clock. But Dryden would not be best.

The rookie goalie, a part-time law student, kicked out 12 shots in the third period and 33 for the game.

As time ran out the Canadiens mobbed the young net-minder and, in an emotional meeting at the side boards, Richard hugged MacNeil, the coach he had called "incompetent" only five days before.

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, presented the cherished Stanley Cup to Jean Beliveau, captain of the Canadiens who carried it off ice and into the jubilant Montreal dressing room.

It marked the third Cup in the past four years and fifth in the past seven for Montreal, the NHL's most successful playoff team.

The Canadiens have won the Cup a total of 17 times—twice before the NHL took control of the prized silverware in 1926—and 15 times since then.

Chicago, which won the first two games of this series and also took the fifth game, jumped to the early lead in the finale.

Dennis Hull, Bobby's kid brother, connected on a power-play with 48 seconds remaining in the opening period. His angled shot glanced off Dryden and into the Montreal net.

The Hawks got their second goal 7 1/2 minutes into the middle period when Danny O'Shea converted Pat Martin's pass from behind the net and beat Dryden to his glove side.

But that was all the young Montreal goalie would allow and Richard's heroics turned the game around.

Porta Edges Perry In 11 Innings 2-1

PALMYRA — Senior starter Dave Kurtman of Perry turned in a sterling performance on the mound as he pitched 11 innings, giving up four hits while striking out 16 and walking four, but it wasn't enough as the Bluejays from Porta High school of Petersburg took advantage of infield errors in the 11th to post a 2-1 win over the Pioneers in the semi-finals of the Northwestern Regional Baseball Tournament Tuesday afternoon.

The victory lifts Porta, now 21-3, into the finals this afternoon at 4:30 against Southwestern High school, which downed Jacksonville 1-0 Monday to gain the finals.

Porta took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first and held the slim margin until the bottom of the third when Perry tied the score. Kurtman got the RBI as he drove Rick Curfman across the plate with a single.

Caney Duncheon relieved Porta starter Reichart in the fourth and struck out 12 Pioneer batters while walking three in the eight innings he worked.

Perry totaled ten hits in the game, with Rick Curfman and Ron Mountain leading the Pioneers with doubles. In contrast, Porta managed only four singles off Kurtman.

The Bluejays scored the winning run in the top of the 11th when Steve Selcke started off with a single to left field. Reichart followed with a single to put men on first and second with none out. Kurtman then struck out the next two batters and got Duncheon to ground to short, but the fiddlers throw to first went wide allowing Selcke to come around and score.

Perry is now 10-6 for the year, while Kurtman suffered his first defeat against nine wins.

Aaron Leads Attack Over New York 8-6

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron, Ralph Garr and Clete Boyer belted home runs, staking the Atlanta Braves to an early five-run lead, and they withstood a late New York rally for an 8-6 victory over the Mets Tuesday night.

Aaron rapped his 13th homer of the year in the first inning, scoring behind Felix Millan, who had opened with a single off Jim McAndrew, 0-2. It was Aaron's 60th lifetime homer.

The Braves picked up four runs in the third on Garr's fifth homer—and third in two nights—and Boyer's three-run blow. Aaron singled and Orlando Cepeda walked before Boyer crashed his fourth homer of the year.

The Mets, trailing 5-3 in the eighth, staged a four-run uprising off relief ace Cecil Upshaw. Tommie Agee led off with his fourth homer and con-

McDowell And Indians Down Senators, 7-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam McDowell, working on a 10-walk no-hitter for six innings, was lifted after Joe Foy's lead-off single in the seventh Tuesday night but won his first game as a starter this season as the Cleveland Indians whipped the Washington Senators 7-3.

Vince Colbert replaced McDowell, 2-5, after Foy's single to center in the seventh, and yielded one run on three hits in the ninth.

Eddie Leon's three-run homer in the sixth and Roy Fosters' solo homer in the second were among the Indians' nine hits off Donny McLain 4-4, in the six innings he lasted.

McDowell, who struck out six, was nipped for two runs—one of them unearned—in the first inning.

With one out, McDowell walked Elliott Maddox and Foy and they moved up on a passed ball. After Howard was intentionally walked, leading the bases, Maddox and Foy scored when Frank Fernandez' ground ball went off Graig Nettles' glove for an error.

YMCA Expands Softball Play By New League

The YMCA announced today the addition of another league to the growing softball interest in the greater Jacksonville Area. With too many teams to handle in the existing league, the YMCA has expanded to a Sunday afternoon league to be played on the YMCA diamond.

So far, five teams are entered in the league with room for only two more. Teams entered so far are D & D Sports Center, Virginia Merchants, Illinois Road Contractors, Ashland Independents, and Tusado Club. Deadline for filling the remaining two positions for this Continental League will be Thursday. Games will start this Sunday with the first one scheduled for 3:00, the second at 4:15, and the last at 5:30.

A Round Robin schedule will be played with every team playing each of the other teams twice. The League champion will be the team with the best won-lost percentage for the season, and they will earn the right to play against other league winners for the City Title.

A sponsors trophy will be presented to teams placing first and second, and individual trophies to the winning team members. An outstanding player trophy will also be presented to the player so selected by teams in the league.

Entry fee is $50.00. Non-members of the YMCA must also purchase a special $5.00 softball league membership.

Ron Johnson of the New York Giants gained 1,027 yards last season.

ELKS' BEST: City Water, Light and Power (top picture) and Walgreen's Self-Service were the team winners this season in the Elks Club's two bowling leagues. Top, members of the City Power team, which won the Monday Night League for the third straight year, are, l-r, Al Miller, Bill Shouse, Harold Hills and Farrell Mitchell. The Self-Service squad, winners of the Thursday Night League, are Everett Birdsell, Jr., Alden Ryan, sponsor Marie Fitzsimmons, Bob Flynn, Sterling Elliott and Lloyd Byers. Spike Wilson was missing from City Power team, Chet Rasm from Self-Service squad.

'Fat Jack' Nicklaus Has Changed Image

NORTH PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Image." It's an explosive word, from Wall Street's skyscrapers of finance to the political doorsteps of Pennsylvania Avenue.

Sports has its images, too, and golfing superstar Jack Nicklaus' was never shiner.

Svelte hips, fluffy blond hair, deflated jowls and bold Fifth Avenue clothes have transformed the onetime "Fat Jack" into a man who generates whistles about "sex appeal."

"I get a kick out of the sex appeal talk," grins Nicklaus, "and so does my wife. But she gives me a tremendous needling."

Fat or lean, Nicklaus has been an exceptional golfer. His 11 major championships and $1.2 million in prize money were claimed with chubby hands and thin fingers alike.

But, the late "Fat Jack" always wore the cloak of a villain, especially in headup battles with much-admired Arnold Palmer. There were times when pretty blonde Barbara Nicklaus felt she was alone pulling for her man.

All that has been laid to rest. "I didn't like being called Ohio Fats or Fat Jack," said Nicklaus. "I suppose there has been an image change. That's great, because I wasn't crazy about the old one."

Adding fuel to the blazing new image is Jack's 1971-tour performance. Since mid January, he has won $11,000 with victories in the PGA, Tournament of Champions and Byron Nelson Classic.

Excellent golf combined with a more marketable Nicklaus physique has the cashbox chinking at Golden Bear Enterprises, Inc.

GBE's president and sole breadwinner settled into his deep presidential chair and smiled.

"It's nice to hear people say you're looking nice in clothes. It beats the old stuff, like 'Why doesn't that fat guy get some decent clothes?'"

Jack's office attire was white tennis shorts, blue golf shirt and white loafers.

It's been 18 months since the 31-year-old Nicklaus dieted off 25 pounds from a bulky 210-pound frame. He followed by throwing away his hair tonic, postponing the barber, visiting the tailor and a fresh, new image was born.

Gourley Takes Paris Cage Post

Gene Gourley was named head basketball coach at Paris High school Monday evening.

Gourley, a graduate of Carrollton High school and Illinois College, compiled an impressive 44-10 record the last two seasons at Nashville High school.

Gourley, 28, succeeds Bret Brown, who resigned at Paris after last season and stayed at the school as assistant principal and athletic director. Paris entered this year's state tournament with an undefeated record before losing in the first round.

Brown County, Warsaw Split Doubleheader

MT. STERLING — The hosts of Brown County High school came from behind with three runs in the bottom of the fifth to win the first game 5-4, but Warsaw returned to blank the Hornets 10-0 in the second game to gain a split of the West Central Conference doubleheader Tuesday afternoon.

The split leaves Brown County with a 5-15 overall mark and a 2-6 record in the conference play, while Warsaw is now 8-9.

Steve Sorrells and Steve Flynn each with a triple led the Hornets in the first game as they came from a 4-2 deficit in the final inning to score three runs and post the win.

Warsaw hurler Rich Thomas pitched a perfect contest for the five inning second game, while the Warsaw batters clubbed 12 hits, including a home run by Thomas.

Close Contests Mark Play In YMCA Slo-Pitch

Ransom Insurance, Byers Bros., and Jim's Big Value were the victors as three close contests were played in the YMCA National Slo-Pitch Softball League Tuesday night.

Home runs by Ken Crews and Chuck Nimmo accounted for four RBI's as Ransom Insurance tipped the VFW squad 10-2. The victors tallied 17 hits in their attack, while the VFW got their runs on eight hits. Tom Eoff led the losers with a home run.

Byers Bros. exploded for 12 runs in the top of the sixth inning to roar from behind and stun Sarge's Lounge 18-14. Byers Bros. were sparked by Rich Firebaugh's grand slam home run in inning that also saw Steve McAdams and Ed Aring clutch home runs.

Jim's Big Value pushed across two runs in the top of the seventh to tip Anderson Clayton 12-12 in the last game of the evening. Jerry Symons with a home run led the victors, while Jack Sullivan with two home runs paced Anderson Clayton.

Sale Talk Makes Trainer Unhappy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Juan Arias would be heartbroken if he and Canonero II, the horse who has made him famous, were to part company.

"It would be like getting married," the 33-year-old Venezuelan bachelor said, "and then having your wife go away from you."

But with a Florida syndicate reported ready to offer $4 million for the winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, Arias knows a split may be near.

Pedro Baptista, who races the 3-year-old colt in the name of his son-in-law, Edgar Calbett, is scheduled to go to Miami Thursday to discuss the bid.

"I'll be broken down if he is sold," Arias said Tuesday as Canonero II was walked around the Pimlico course for his first exercise since winning the Preakness last Saturday.

Arias, speaking through an interpreter, Dr. Jose Almenar, a close friend and business associate of Baptista and Calbett, said when asked if losing Canonero II would be worse than losing a personal friend.

"It would be worse than that."

Arias, a trainer for 12 years, said he loved all horses because he gets them as yearlings and they "become like my children."

"But this horse has made me travel in another world. He has

'Jacksonville Night' Tickets Now On Sale

Sale of tickets for the 4th Annual "Jacksonville Night" to the general public has begun according to Clarence Stallings, recently appointed Chamber of Commerce coordinator for this year's event.

"Jacksonville Night" is a specially designated night at Busch Stadium for Jacksonville area residents to attend a Cardinal's baseball game. This year's event is scheduled for Saturday evening, June 26, when the Cardinals will play the Cubs. Jacksonville will play given special consideration when this game was scheduled because of the good attendance from Jacksonville for past "Jacksonville Nights". The attendance goal for this year is 2000.

Highlighting the evening will be the pre-game activities which include scoreboard recognition of Jacksonville and all large groups attending the ballgame. The program activities will conclude and the ballgame will start with Mayor Dan Lahey throwing the first pitch to Bill Fay, newly elected president of the Jacksonville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets for this event are $5 per seat and can be obtained at the Chamber office at 207 E. Morgan.

Petrocelli's HR Gives Lonborg 5-3 Return Win

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg made a dramatic return to the major leagues and came out a winner Tuesday night as Rico Petrocelli's three-run seventh inning homer lifted the Boston Red Sox from behind to a 5-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Lonborg, just called up from the minors where he has been trying to regain his 1967 Cy Young Award form, came on in relief at the start of the seventh with the Red Sox trailing 2-2.

The tall right-hander responded with a brilliant performance, hurling hitless ball over the final three innings to gain credit for the victory via the Red Sox' rally in the bottom of the seventh.

Dave Grayson May Reconsider His Retirement

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Safety Dave Grayson, a top National Football League defender, says he's reconsidering his decision to retire after 10 years with Dallas of the AFL, Kansas City and Oakland.

The 31-year-old Grayson played for the Raiders the last six seasons and captained the Oakland secondary. The negotiation rights to him were turned over Monday night to San Diego in return for a draft choice of undisclosed nature.

made me famous."

Arias fully realizes that the decision to sell is not his, however.

"He's the owner," the trainer said of Baptista. "I'm the professional man training the best I can. I hope he gets the best price he can."

Arias said Canonero II is "so much within me" that he would be inclined to go with the horse should the new owners seek his services.

The top syndication mark is held by Nijinsky, whose value was placed at $6.4 million last fall. In 1966, Kaul King was syndicated at $2.15 million after winning the Preakness and before losing the Belmont.

Canonero II, a Kentucky-bred sold for $1,200 at Keeneland as a yearling and later bought as part of a three-horse package by Baptista for $60,000, has lifetime earnings of $315,000.

He earned $32,100 while winning six races in Venezuela the past two years, added $145,500 in the Derby and $137,400 in the Preakness.

YMCA Women's Slo-Pitch Opens With Three Wins

Doyle Plumbing, Capital Records, and Bound To Stay Bound took the victories as the opening three games were played in the Women's YMCA Slo-Pitch League Monday night.

With Doris Sues, Judy Elliot and Brenda McEvers getting three hits apiece, Doyle Plumbing put together a nine run fifth inning on the way to romping past City, Light and Power 22-18. Audrey DeFratres, who went three for five at the plate, led the losers.

Sheryl Martin, Patty Way and Carol Reubling each netched two hits for three trips to the plate to pace Capital Records over Anderson-Clayton and Barnes Insurance by a final 12-5 count. Lotty Baldwin led ACBI with a triple and a two-run homer.

Bound To Stay Bound scored 13 runs in the bottom of the third to roar over National Auto Body, 25-5. In the decisive inning, BTSS sent 18 batters to the plate and gathered nine hits and four walks. Bonnie Buhlig highlighted the lining with a grand slam, while Jane Ford got a three-run triple and a two-run double in the frame.

MAJOR COMMODITY FUTURES LOWER

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy liquidation, mainly in the expiring May contracts, sent major commodity futures down by some 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

Oats futures closed on a mixed tone. Another factor in the selling of major commodity futures was the weather. Overnight, rain fell in sections of the South and Midwest and the trade theorized that it was beneficial to the new crop.

At the close, soybeans were 1/4 to 2 cents a bushel lower, May 2.97%; corn was 1/4 to 2 cents lower, May 1.40%; wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May 1.00%; and oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, May 69 cents.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

The Board of Education, Community Unit District No. 15, Beardstown, Illinois, will receive sealed bids for an addition to the high school building, located at 200 East 15th street, Beardstown, Illinois, until three o'clock p.m., Central Daylight Time, on June 2, 1973. Bids will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, 300 East 15th street, Beardstown, Illinois. Bids submitted by mail shall be addressed to the Board of Education, Community Unit District No. 15, 300 East 15th Street, Beardstown, Illinois 62618. At said time, the bids will be publicly opened and read. The bid opening will be in the cafeteria room of the high school.

The work consists of an agricultural shop addition totaling approximately 4,000 sq. ft. and some remodeling work within the existing shop section of the high school.

Bids will be received for General Construction Work, Plumbing Work, Heating and Ventilating Work, Electrical Work, and/or combined bids for all of the above work. Plans and specifications are on file at the office of the Superintendent of Schools and at the office of the architect, Simon, Retberg, Garrison, Flom, Inc., One Hanson Place, Champaign, Illinois 61820. Copies of the plans and specifications and bid documents may be obtained from the architect by depositing $25 for each set with the architect. The deposit will be refunded in full upon the return of the plans and the specifications, in good condition, within ten (10) days after the bid opening. Those who do not submit a bona fide bid or do not return the plans and the specifications within ten (10) days after the bid opening will receive no refund. Material suppliers may order copies of the drawings and specifications at a cost of $1 per sheet of drawings and 10 cents per page of specifications, non-refundable.

Bid proposals must be submitted on the form furnished and shall not contain any qualifications or recaptulations of the work to be done. All proposals shall be submitted in sealed envelopes identified with the name of the project, division of the work bid upon, the date of the bid opening, and the name of the bidder, and shall be addressed to the Board of Education, Community Unit District No. 15, 300 East 15th Street, Beardstown, Illinois 62618. Each bid shall be accompanied by a bid deposit in the form of a certified check, cashier's check, cash or a bid bond in the amount of 5 percent of the base bid, payable to the Board of Education, Community Unit District No. 15. A performance bond and labor and material payment bond will be required of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded.

All bidders are advised that the law concerning prevailing wage rates must be complied with. Prevailing wage rates have been determined by the Board of Education and are available at the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

No bid may be withdrawn for thirty (30) days after the date of opening of bids. The Board of Education reserves the right to waive any and all informalities in bidding and the right to reject any or all bids or any part thereof, and to accept the bid or bids being most favorable to the Board of Education after all bids have been examined and evaluated.

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is World Trade Week, so proclaimed by President Nixon in these words: "Now more than ever before the United States must seek to strengthen its role as a key supplier to the global marketplace."

No doubt about that. If the United States can sell more goods abroad it stands a chance of correcting the nagging deficit in its foreign payments, or strengthening the dollar, or rewarding its workers and investors better.

Meanwhile, what is happening to the market at home? From Detroit: "I frankly don't see how we're going to meet the foreign competition."

The speaker was Henry Ford II at the company's annual meeting last week. He wasn't speaking of foreign markets. He was speaking domestically.

From Pittsburgh, Pa.: "Nobody likes quotas, but at the moment, it's the only way we can live." The speaker was Edwin E. Godd, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., quoted by Business Week magazine. The subject was foreign competition at home.

Pick your dateline or your industry. You'll have little trouble in matching the quotes. The domestic oil industry, 4 of which are in the top 10 industrial corporations, fear imports.

The supercolossal airliner, being built by Britain and France and Russia, cannot be built here without a subsidy, and then may be uneconomical.

It never is difficult to hear complaints or fears. It is almost standard for the leaders of a dying business to seek protection and to blame exterior conditions for their plight.

When Ford and Godd speak, however, they speak as two of the most powerful companies in the world, companies that have typified American industrial might.

What are the reasons? Steel argues that individual companies in the United States must compete with government-business combines abroad. In the automotive industry, Henry Ford II comments: "Mini car, mini profit."

But there are other fundamental factors involved that have persisted for years without effective action taken or perhaps even possible. Among those often mentioned, without any attempt to assess their value:

High American wages versus low foreign pay scales; lagging productivity of factories and workers; restrictions on American products, as in the Japanese car market; American consumerism, which imposes costly standards.

Also: The American free enterprise system versus subsidized companies abroad—not that government aid isn't given here also; and the regulatory climate, which some critics say is overly restrictive.

But can anyone overlook the probability that there might also be missing some of those ingredients that made American companies great: imagination, innovation, enthusiasm, enterprise, daring, flexibility.

CHARGE RECALL NOTICES FAIL TO SPELL OUT DANGERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department has charged that recall notices sent by automakers to owners of defective cars and trucks often neglect spelling out all the possible dangers involved.

The result, says a scolding letter to 78 domestic and foreign manufacturers, has been an unlawful shortcoming in attempts "to provide the desired incentive in owners to have vehicles repaired."

The letter, signed by Douglas W. Toms, acting head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, reminds the automakers that federal law requires them to tell owners of affected cars whether defect might cause loss of control or crashes.

And it criticizes them for "serious failure" to comply. Toms suggested that technical descriptions of flaws without evaluation of crash possibility discourage owners from getting their cars "repaired as quickly as possible."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed slightly lower Tuesday in widely gyrating trading that saw prices fall sharply early in the day and then stage a midsession rally.

The Dow average was down more than 7 points. This left the market heavily overvalued, analysts said, inducing a spree of bargain hunting that wiped out the earlier loss and pushed the Dow into plus territory.

Towards the close, the market declined again. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 17.6 million shares, compared with 15.9 million shares Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks gained 0.04 to 55.32.

Of the 1,600 stocks traded on the Big Board, 790 declined, and 611 advanced. There were 20 new highs and 81 new lows.

Stocks were lower in all categories except rubber issues, metals, rails, and oils, which were mixed; and electronics and airlines, which were higher.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed off 0.5 at 321.6, with industrials off 0.5, rails unchanged, and utilities off 0.4.

Telex was most active on the New York Stock Exchange, losing 1/4 to 174. Other Big Board prices included Ling-Temco-Vought, up 1/4 to 18 1/2; Dentsply International, up 2 to 4 1/2; Fannie Mae, up 1/4 to 57 1/2; American Telephone, off 1/4 to 46 1/2; and Braniff Airways, up 1/4 to 11.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index slipped 0.4 to 25.83. Of the 1,158 stocks traded, 517 declined and 354 advanced. Volume totaled 5.6 million shares, as compared with 4.6 million shares Monday.

A group that plans to call itself Clean Bay, Inc., is forming among oil companies operating in San Francisco Bay and its tributaries.

"The greatest thing we hope to be able to do is contain and clean up the oil wherever it is spilled and never let it get to the shore," Norton, a 35-year veteran engineer with Standard Oil, said.

He said procedures have been set up so that large numbers of men and equipment could be on the scene of a spill within two hours. They would be directed by radio and telephone from a command post in Santa Barbara.

There have been no major oil spills along the California coast since the tanker collision. Clean seas was incorporated last August and began organizing men and equipment early this year. It's first-year budget of $250,000 provides for purchase of equipment and testing of proposed oil spill control systems. The industry is funding the program.

"After the Santa Barbara spill, everyone realized this had to be done," Norton said. "Perhaps the spill did the oil industry a favor in that it got us moving on things like this."

Chief Justice Raps Lawyer Incivility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said yesterday "adrenalin-fueled" lawyers who confuse insolence and arrogance with zealous advocacy are bringing a 20th Century version of Know-Nothingism to America.

At the drop of a hat, he said, practitioners of "the new litigation" cry out theirs is a political trial, making rules of evidence, canons of ethics and codes of professional conduct irrelevant.

Burger included editorials "shrill with invective" and savage political cartoons as targets of his displeasure in a speech prepared for the American Law Institute entitled "The Necessity for Civility."

The unusual address, opening the institute's Spring meeting, was laced with references to the reas. "When men shout and shriek or call names, we witness the end of rational thought process if not the beginning of blows and combat," Burger said. "I hardly dare take the risk of adding that this may also be relevant to the news media."

The chief justice named no lawyers nor newspaper in his criticism. The one incident he related involved Archibald Cox, the former U.S. solicitor general who teaches at Harvard Law School.

Burger, quoting an account in the New York Times, said Cox a few weeks ago "tried to speak to his own students at Harvard" and was met with a screaming, chanting audience.

Cox, said Burger, told his students: "Freedom of speech is indivisible. You cannot deny it to one man and save it for others."

The chief justice, titling his speech "The Necessity for Civility," recalled 19th century England as well as America. In England, he said, lawyers were brash and swaggering and judges intemperate and blustering. Here, he went on, there was pistol whipping and caning in Congress, news media were intensely partisan and vicious and political leaders horse-whipped reporters.

"Today, and increasingly in the past few years," he said, "we witness some of his kind of incivility as well as violence. Speakers are shouted down or prevented from speaking. Editorials tend to become shrill with invective and political cartoons are savagely reminiscent of a century past."

High Court Approves Hit-And-Run Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved by one vote Monday hit-and-run laws of all the states requiring drivers to stop and give their names and addresses after an accident.

The 5-4 decision rejected the view that such traffic laws are unconstitutional because they compel drivers involved in accidents to assist in their own prosecution.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, delivering the judgment in a California case said "the mere possibility of incrimination is outweighed by the 'valid state needs' such as studying the causes of auto accidents."

He said that to have a driver give his name and address is no more self-incriminating than to require a suspect to stand or walk in a police lineup or to provide police with fingerprints.

Justices Hugo L. Black and William J. Brennan attacked Justice Burger's opinion in dissenting opinions. Black said the driver hands the state an admission when he must identify himself after an accident. Brennan said it would be hard to imagine "a more substantial hazard of self-incrimination."

The ruling topped a busy day in which the court also: —Rejected, 5 to 1, an appeal by James R. Hoffa, the imprisoned president of the

Polly's Pointers

'Overtime' Lunchers Are Not Pot Poets

By POLLY CHAMBER
DEAR POLLY—My Pot Poet is with these people who sit in a restaurant all through the lunch hour, sometimes from 12 to 1:30. A waitress depends a lot on the lot, when lunch is finished, they should go their talking and business elsewhere and give the girl a chance for a faster turnover.—VIOLET

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I am handicapped and cannot get out to look for instruction books but would like to know how to make patchwork hangings. I do hope someone can tell me how to do this.—ANGELINE

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J.P.C. wanted to know how to clean her indoor-outdoor carpet that resists sweeping or vacuuming. I visited in a home (with three children in the household) where they had such a carpet in the kitchen. They used a hand sweeper that one pushes and this picked up crumbs and loose particles.—MRS. E.M.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J.P.C. should check with the store where she bought her indoor-outdoor carpet that resists cleaning. Most brands recommend vacuuming and hosing down with water. Even routing a do-it-yourself carpet shampooer may do the trick.—MRS. J.T.M.

DEAR GINA—Makers of such carpets and there are different types that require different care — suggest frequent vacuuming when such a carpet gets lots of use. Sometimes more than once a day is needed.

as well and particles do not have time to penetrate. Light vacuuming is done with three strokes—forward, backward and forward over each area. Heavy cleaning uses seven strokes with the last one going in the direction of the natural cleat of the fibers, according to some instructions. The danger of wetting is in judging the right amount of water on the back should not be soaked as could be the case where Mrs. J.P.C.'s carpet is concerned. The supplier should definitely be consulted to know the correct procedure for that particular carpet.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Like other working wives, I had a problem with thawing meat for the evening meal. I did not like to leave it out of the freezer all day; and if left in the refrigerator section, it did not always thaw in time. Finally I had the great idea of putting the frozen package in the foam ice bucket with the top left tilted a bit to let in some air. The meat thaws and stays cold.—MAXINE

TRIOPIA BOARD OFFERS CONTRACTS

ARENEVILLE — The board of education of Triopia School District 27 voted May 12 to offer several contracts for positions on the faculty.

Sherwood Smith of St. Joseph, Missouri, was issued a contract as assistant principal at Triopia Junior-Senior High School. Teachers to be offered contracts are Mrs. Lois Clark, Mrs. Dorothy Lashmet, Kenneth W. Bradbury and Mrs. Betty Hayes.

Board president Dan Meyer appointed standing committees for the year. Education committee, Lorenz Kleinschmidt, chairman; Wilbur Tappenebeck, Robert S. Smith, Building committee, Charles Burgess, chairman; Arthur W. Nerganah, Lorenz Kleinschmidt, Transportation committee, Wilbur Tappenebeck, chairman; Lloyd Glander, Robert S. Smith.

The building committee was empowered to investigate the next steps to be taken on Safety Code work and have specifications drawn up for board approval and also empowered to have specifications drawn up and to seek bids for conversion of the coal furnaces at the Chapin and Arenville elementary schools as soon as a natural gas permit is received.

Wilbur Tappenebeck was elected delegate to the Four Rivers Special Education Council, with Lorenz Kleinschmidt as alternate.

Charles Burgess was elected Legislative Contact Member of the board.

Summer maintenance work was discussed, and approval given for employing additional help on an hourly basis to work in the Unit.

A special school holiday was declared for June 3. There will be no classes for students. Teachers will use this day to work on records.

Dominick Shalla Second Victim Of Fireworks Blast

The explosion that demolished the Continental Fireworks Co. near Pisgah Monday claimed its second victim, Dominick Shalla, 75, the owner of the company, died at 7:50 p.m. Tuesday in the burns treatment section of Memorial Hospital in Springfield.

Shalla's condition worsened Tuesday afternoon and his condition was reported as 'critical' for the first time since he was admitted.

A Continental employee, Richard Morris, 45, of 336 West Court St., died at the scene of the explosion Monday.

Shalla's granddaughter, Jodee Maria Shalla, 19, of 603 Sandusky St., was listed in "very critical condition" Tuesday night at Memorial hospital. She suffered third-degree burns over 50 per cent of her body.

Three other Continental employees injured in the explosion were listed in "satisfactory" condition at Passavant hospital Tuesday night. They are: Ethel Strivin of 615 North West St., a patient in the coronary care unit; Nellie Graham, 54, of 1206 Center St.; Donald Worth, 23, of 603 Sandusky St.

Richard Morris, Blast Victim, Rites Thursday

Richard Allyn Morris, who died Monday from injuries sustained in the explosion of the Continental Fireworks Co., was born Feb. 5, 1926 at Pawnee, son of Gabriel L. Morris and Pearl Holmes Morris. He married Helen Jennings on Jan. 21, 1950 in Springfield.

Mrs. Morris survives with one daughter, Deborah Joyce; and seven sons, Joseph Allyn, Richard Levi, Dennis Wayne, Larry Michael, John Paul William, Brian Keith and Kevin Eugene, all at home.

A grandson, Richard Lee Morris, and a sister, Mrs. William Hartle, of Merced, also survive.

The deceased was a veteran of World War Two.

The family will meet friends at Gillham-Buchanan Funeral Home 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home with Rev. William J. Boston officiating. Interment will be in Waverly East cemetery.

Amvets Elect New Officers. Plan Parade

Jacksonville Amvet Post met in regular session May 11th with Commander Shirley Woens presiding. Colors were posted by Provost Marshall Gerald Cozzit, opening prayer given by Chaplain Herbert Dodsworth and the membership joined in reading the Preamble.

The following new members, Charles S. Christy and Gregory Kent Lewis were elected into membership of the Post and the semi-monthly financial report was approved as made by Finance Officer John Beades.

Bill Clancy reported on the progress of the local Amvets softball team, stating that new uniforms are to be worn this season.

The Post discussed the coming Memorial Day and will join with the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and World War I Barracks in the proper observance of the occasion.

Amvets are in charge of the parade and securing the speaker of the day. Flags will be placed on all veterans graves in the local cemeteries by the respective veterans organizations.

All civic and fraternal organizations, schools and business establishments are cordially invited to participate in the parade.

Election of Post Officers for the coming year of Jacksonville Amvets Post was held and the following officers elected: commander, Lloyd H. Byers; vice commander, Floyd Johnson Jr.; vice commander, George Summers; adjutant, Yarn Rabe; finance officer, John Beades; judge advocate, E. W. Dodsworth; provost marshal, Ronnie Gilbert; and members of the house committee for a two year term, Edward Witham and Shirley Woens.

At the close of the meeting, closing prayer was given by the chaplain, colors retrieved and meeting adjourned.

House Committee Defeats Abortion Bill

By MICHAEL ROBINSON SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation to legalize abortion in Illinois was defeated Tuesday in the House Judiciary Committee on a vote of 11-7, with one member abstaining with a vote of "present."

With the exception of a Democratic representative who described his vote as "more that of a Catholic than a legislator," the all-party straight party lines and the Republican majority prevailed.

At the announcement of the vote, several hundred abortion foes in the spectator galleries — many of them elderly women in cotton print dresses — gave the committee a two-minute standing ovation. A lesser number of college-age women hissed and booed as they filed out of the chamber.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Bruce Douglas, D-Chicago, pleaded for approval of it, says "the only group that presently benefits from the law is criminal abortionists."

"I beg of you, Douglas said, 'I implore you. Dig into your hearts, no matter how you personally feel, and help us get this bill onto the floor of the House.'"

Majority Leader Henry J. Hyde, R-Chicago, replied that the bill was "dehumanizing."

"Last week this committee voted to raise the maximum fine for cruelty to animals," Hyde said. "Proponents of this legislation seem to think an unborn child, the most defenseless form of human life, is not entitled to the same benefits."

Specifically, the bill would have removed from the criminal code abortions performed with advice of the patient's physician in license medical facilities up to the twelfth week of pregnancy.

The present state law, making abortion illegal unless the physician can prove the life of the mother is endangered, already has been declared unconstitutional by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. However, the effect of this ruling has been blocked by the U.S. Supreme Court ending further study.

Douglas, harkening to a slogan of pro-abortion forces that opponents found objectionable, warned that, "There isn't any such thing as abortion on demand."

"Not anymore than there is appendectomy on demand or phylactic treatment on demand," he said. "It takes the consent of the physician."

Dr. Fred E. Mecklenberg, organizer of a birth control clinic at the university of Minnesota, an opponent to the bill, testified in New York, where abortion is legal in most cases, death from such an operation occurs in about 40 cases out of 100,000. He said that there were no figures on this large a scale yet but that the trend was in this ratio.

Douglas, asking from where Mecklenberg's figures came, said he thought that the statistics included figures from criminal abortionists. Mecklenberg did not reply.

Witnesses in favor of the measure included Dr. Ralph Brown of the Illinois State Medical Society; Mrs. Bernetta Barrett, a former welfare recipient and hospital worker, and Benjamin F. Lewis, executive director of the Chicago Planned Parenthood Association.

Brown told the committee the bill would not affect "anyone but the impoverished and the indigent and called the present statute 'simply a law against the poor.'"

Mrs. Barrett told the committee that under present law poor women are abused by back-alley abortionists and "exploited by druggists who ply them with palliatives, pills, poisons and poisons."

A companion measure to the Douglas bill, sponsored by Rep. J. Horace Gardner, R-Chicago, stating that physicians may perform abortions up to the twelfth week of pregnancy, but not mentioning the criminal code, was defeated by the same 11-7 vote.

Woman Suffers Gunshot Wound

A Murrayville woman was treated at Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Tuesday afternoon for an accidentally self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Lela Miller, 44, of R. R. 1 Murrayville, was treated and released from the hospital about 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff Harold Wright said Mrs. Miller was hunting mushrooms in a field near her home at the time of the mishap. Mrs. Miller said she was taking a .22 caliber pistol from her pocket to shoot a groundhog when the weapon discharged, wounding her in the abdomen.

Safety Lane Reaches One Third Of Goal

One third of the goal of Jacksonville's 17th annual Safety Lane project was realized Tuesday as 942 vehicles were inspected. The two-day total now stands at 2,178. Sponsors set their goal at 6,000 vehicles.

Patrolman Fred Van Bebbler, co-chairman of the annual project, said Tuesday, "If the turnout stays like it has been for the past two days we can still make our goal of 6,000 cars."

Of the 942 vehicles checked Tuesday, 73 were rejected, mostly for defective turn signals. Fifty-three of the vehicles rejected were brought back with the defect corrected.

Several businesses and agencies brought their fleet of vehicles to the lane to be inspected. These include: Walton's Appliance and TV, Lowe Ambulance Service, General Telephone Co., Jacksonville Police Dept., Illinois State Police, Morgan County Sheriff's Dept., Dept. of Mental Health, U. S. Postal Service, Club Herald, Elm City Cafe, Sears Roebuck and Co., Walker Motor Co., Schmitt Chevrolet.

Assisting at the Safety Lane Tuesday were: The Exchange Club, Ambulance, mechanics from Glisson Ford and Schmitt Chevrolet, Boy Scout Troop 113, Jacksonville High School students, the Group for Auto Safety, Secretary of State's office personnel, Illinois State Police and Jacksonville Police Dept.

Refreshments were provided by the Elm City Cafe.

The project is sponsored annually by the Jacksonville Police Dept., the Group for Auto Safety, and Jacksonville Association of Insurance Agents.

Two Elementary School Principals Named By Board

Members of the Board of Education of School District 117 Tuesday evening approved a recommendation of Dr. Clifford Crone, superintendent, to name two faculty members to new positions as elementary school principals.

The board named veteran Jacksonville educator Oliver H. Buck as the principal of Lafayette elementary school and a teacher at Jefferson elementary school, Miss Helen I. Baldwin, as principal of Jefferson school to replace Mr. Buck.

Mr. Buck will move to Lafayette school after serving as principal of Jefferson school for the past twenty years. He will succeed Miss Lena Heim, principal of Lafayette school, this fall. Miss Heim will retire at the end of the current school year.

At least two other sessions to discuss economic matters are scheduled before the next regular board meeting June 1.

Teachers are asking for higher salaries, reduction of class size, reimbursement for accumulated earned absences, personal leave days, pay for extra duties and others.

The official school calendar was adopted for the 1971-72 school year, pending necessary changes required by the negotiations committee. School will start Friday, August 27 and end Monday, June 5. The first day of pupil attendance would be Wednesday, Sept. 1. The Christmas vacation would be from Dec. 22 to Jan. 3.

Several construction payments were authorized by the board and bid specifications for equipment at Armstrong and Eisenhower schools were approved. Several members expressed concern at what they described as "apparent unbalance" between the various schools of the district.

The board also authorized acceptance of low bids for industrial arts furniture and equipment in the amount of slightly more than $10,000. The Camera Shop was one of eight bidders, all of whom received "a piece of the action."

An application grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission was approved by the board to secure funds to hire a special counselor at the junior high school level starting this fall.

The next regular board meeting will be held June 1 at Lafayette elementary school.

Oliver H. Buck

Mr. Buck and his wife reside at 13 Westfair Drive. They have three married children.

He holds a master's degree from Illinois State University and started his teaching career in a rural school. He served with the Army during WWII.

His professional associations and activities cover all segments of the educational sphere.

Some of his numerous activities of community interest include Boy Scouts, Kiwanis Club, Symphony Society and Grace United Methodist church.
